Beck | Redden^{LLP}
Trial and Appellate Attorneys

THE "GO-TO" FIRM

Beck Redden is a firm of 49 Texas-based trial and appellate lawyers. With offices in both Houston and Austin, litigation is the Firm's only practice. When Fortune 500 companies like Altria, ExxonMobil and many others face product liability claims they turn to Beck Redden to defend them not only in Texas, but also throughout the United States. Beck Redden is viewed as the "go-to" firm for the energy industry's most complex disputes for clients such as ExxonMobil, Cameron International Corporation, and Valero Energy Corporation, to name a few.

The Firm is often the counsel of choice for peer firms in legal malpractice matters. In lieu of brute force, Beck Redden's compact litigation teams are designed to move swiftly, confident in tactics they have deployed with success in high-stakes environments.

HIGHEST HONORS

A notable characteristic of Beck Redden's renowned trial and appellate practice is that The American College of Trial Lawyers includes six of the Firm's attorneys: David J. Beck, Joe W. Redden, Jr., W. Curt Webb, Kat Gallagher, Thomas R. McDade, and Eric J.R. Nichols. Fellowship in the College is among the highest honors that a trial lawyer can receive.

LEADING

Beck Redden has taken the lead in representing global and large-scale clients in some of the most noteworthy, significant litigation within the last year – with results not only affecting the state of Texas, but also the United States. This exceptional body of litigation work has earned the Firm outstanding recognition and accolades.
